SPY PROBES TRACK DOWN NEWEST TIPS

Seek To Establish Foundation of Washington Espionage Rings

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1—Congressional spy investigators today ran down a new lead they said may knit together claims that the Communists operated a prewar underground and wartime espionage rings in Washington.

Rep. Nixon (R-Calif.) said the lead was uncovered in efforts to verify the statement of Whittaker Chambers that he got a government "boondoggling" job in 1937 while a Communist party agent.

An admitted former Red, Chambers has testified he landed on the federal payroll with the help of two men recently accused of being part of the wartime Soviet spy network. Has Long Record

"A preliminary investigation," Nixon told reporters, "has established that a man with exactly the same name as one of the superiors of Mr. Chambers has, in fact, a long record of Communist activity and worked in the government under Nathan Gregory Silvermaster."

"The committee is not releasing the name at this time, or until it establishes beyond question that two men with the same name were not involved."

"If the inquiry does not show that a Chambers superior and the individual whose record we have is one and the same, then an additional important link will have been established between the Chambers underground and the Bentley spy rings."

Now a senior editor of Time magazine, Chambers has said under oath that he was part of an underground in the Red era here in the middle 30's. He said he got on the government payroll in 1937 with an agent from George Silverman and Irving Kaplan.

Miss Elizabeth T. Bentley, who says he too is a reformed Communist, has testified that during the war she was a courier for two spy rings that extracted secrets from government officials and piped them to Moscow. She testified that Silvermaster was head of one of the rings. Victor Perlo head of the other.

Miss Bentley testified that George Silverman was a member of the Silvermaster group and that Kaplan paid dues to the Perlo group and fed information to the Silvermaster organization.

The driveway is on the school board's property.

County Group Names Officers

Leetonia to Head '49 March of Dimes Drive

Joseph R. Leeson of Leetonia was chosen chairman of the Columbiana county March of Dimes drive when the county polio chapter held its annual meeting Tuesday night at the Lape hotel to map plans for the new campaign opening Jan. 15.

Leeson, an insurance agent in Leetonia, succeeds George Perrault of Salem, who headed the successful drive this year.

Common Pleas Judge Joel H. Sharp of Salem, who presided over last night's meeting, was re-elected chairman of the Columbiana county chapter of the National Foundation For Infantile Paralysis.

Other officers, all re-elected, are: Assistant chairman, E. Allen McKee of East Liverpool; secretary, Mrs. Winifred Evers of Salem, and treasurer, Harold Musser of Salem.

Attending the meeting was Arnold Larsen of Canton, Ohio representative of the national polio foundation at Warm Springs, Ga.

Expenditures High

An epidemic of 17 infantile paralysis cases last year resulted in increased expenditures on the part of the Columbiana chapter, the treasurer's report showed.

Expenses during the past 12 months totaled $22,781.73 compared to $4,147.85 spent the preceding year.

The March of Dimes campaign in January of this year raised $12,700 in Columbiana county, half of the money being retained for local work and half being sent to the national foundation. The present balance is $2,400.

Leaders of the county organization found it necessary to obtain an advance of $11,000 from the national foundation for the care and treatment of local polio cases.

The secretary reported 35 paralysis victims being cared for at the present time, five being in hospitals, 12 returning for treatment and 18 dismissed from hospitals but still under observation.

Columbiana county was reported as having only four polio victims this summer.

Youngstown Man's Death Is Probed

(By Associated Press)

LONG BEACH, Calif., Sept. 1.—The death of Howell G. Thomas, 43, retired Youngstown, Ohio, manufacturer, possibly from hypodermic injections, puzzled police here today.

Chief Alvin S. Slight said punctures in both of Thomas' arms gave evidence that lethal drugs may have been administered.

Thomas, police said, arrived here five days ago with a woman named as Miss Agnes Gray, described as his nurse. Chief Slight said the woman told him she called for assistance when Thomas became ill Monday night. She said Thomas was visited by a "man calling himself a doctor" and she was "invited to take a walk."

Later, she told police, she returned to find Thomas improved. After the man left saying he was not a doctor, police quoted the woman as saying, "Thomas suddenly began gasping and turning purple."

A hotel physician was summoned, but Thomas died before he arrived. The woman said the caller left several capsules "in case he needed them." These will be chemically analyzed.

The woman told police Thomas had been traveling about the United States in search of health, and lately, deciding he was going to die, came here. She said Thomas had almost $10,000 with him.

Police learned Thomas deposited $3,900 in the hotel safe, and reported him as saying he expected a larger amount later. Thomas was manager of the Steelduct Co. in Youngstown until last fall, when he gave up his job and left town. He is married and has two daughters.

MOSCOW, Sept. 1.—Moscow hung out mourning flags today for Andrei A. Zhdanov, member of the powerful politburo and a founder of cominform, who died yesterday. He was 52.

Red flags edged in black fluttered above the streets for the first time on such an occasion since former President Mikhail I. Kalinin died in June 1946.

Zhdanov was very close to Prime Minister Stalin and often was referred to on occasions of ceremony as "the closest associate of the great Stalin." There is no doubt that, with Stalin and Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, he was one of the Soviet union's "big three."

(Aboard, Zhdanov often as regarded as leading candidate for Stalin's job when the time came. Others believed in the running were Molotov and L. P. Beria, secret police boss, Stalin now is 63.)

The Russian public was deeply shocked at the sudden news of Zhdanov's death, broadcast in a brief bulletin just a half hour before midnight. There had been no previous hint that he was ill.

(The Moscow radio broadcast today a medical report concerning the death of Andrei A. Zhdanov. It said:

"For many years Col. Gen. Zhdanov suffered from high blood pressure which was complicated by severe arterio-sclerosis (hardening of the arteries), especially in the blood vessels supplying the heart. During the last few years he had frequent attacks of angina pectoris (neuralgia of the heart) followed by cardiac asthma. Death followed from paralysis of the heart accompanied by acute emphysema (A disease of the lungs characterized by enlarged or ruptured air cells).

(The report was signed by five of the Soviet union's most prominent physicians, including Prof. P. Yezhov, head of the Kremlin's medical-sanitary administration.)

Zealley Tells Rotarians Of Conditions in England

Harold A. Zealley, superintendent of the Salem City hospital, gave a talk on "In England Now" when the Rotary club met Tuesday evening in the Memorial building.

Zealley, who was born in England and has traveled throughout Europe, told about the deplorable conditions under which the English live. He said that conditions in England have reached the point where the health of its citizens is endangered. Children over 11 years of age are inadequately fed. Zealley said there is a scarcity of food and clothing and rationing is stringent.

People are working in unhealthy buildings as well as not having the proper clothing and food.

Dr. F. R. Crowe was program chairman.

110 Marriage Licenses Obtained During August

LISBON, Sept. 1.—The rush on marriage licenses during August, reflecting the eagerness of draft-age men to escape army induction, amounted to 110 being issued in Columbiana county. It was reported today.

The figure compares with July's total of 84 marriage licenses.

Clerk of Courts John W. Coleman reported 7 civil actions filed during August. 34 of which were divorce cases. The usual figure is between 50 and 60, he added.

REDS RESTRICT CHINA FLIGHTS

U. S. Minister's Plane Is Turned Back By Soviets At Lanchow

(By Associated Press)

NANKING, Sept. 1.—All foreign airplanes except Russian have been barred by China from the air over its western border provinces.

The step was taken secretly and became known here when U. S. Minister Lewis Clark's plane was grounded and turned back at Lanchow.

In 1939, China, then yearning for Russian support, gave the Soviets exclusive foreign rights to fly over the western provinces for 10 years.

Government spokesman Hsingtong Tung said China had made no decision yet on termination of the agreement.

His statement was in contradiction of another high official who refused to be named. This source said Moscow already had been notified China did not want to renew the agreement upon its expiration on Sept. 9 next year. He added that the government was "awaiting Russia's reply."

The pact is still carried in the Chinese foreign office secret files. The order barring all foreign planes, except Russian, from the border provinces was confirmed by the foreign office. However, a spokesman denied having any knowledge of the reasons for the action, apparently taken by the defense ministry under instructions from China's highest authority, President Chiang Kai-Shek.

Some observers here said the order possibly resulted from Soviet pressure under the air agreement for Russian operation of a commercial airline from Almaty in the U. S. S. R. to Hami on Sinkiang's eastern border. The Russians argued this agreement gave them exclusive rights to fly over Sinkiang.

Clark and his pilots, Lt. Col. A. T. House, Jr., of Long Beach, Calif., and Maj. Keable Berry of Austin, Tex., spent two days at Lanchow attempting to unmask the orders which halted their previously cleared flight. They were finally forced to return to Nanking.

Embassy sources confirmed that the Chinese government here refused permission for subsequent flights of the embassy's plane to Tientsin to inspect and supply American consular offices there. It was indicated that any further action on the matter would come from Washington.

Persons in Tientsin during previous visits by American aircraft there said each flight was followed by bitter Russian protests that the flights were for the purpose of "spying and photographing" areas well within the Russian sphere.

Mahoning County Fair Gets Underway; Closes Labor Day

A city within a city is to be found in nearby Canfield today as a Tent City is now located on the fairgrounds in which hundreds of displays of proven interest to farmers and city dwellers alike are collected.

Canfield fair directors are expecting record-breaking crowds for the 102nd annual event which opened today will run through Labor day.

According to E. R. Ziegler, executive secretary, if good weather prevails the attendance figures this year may be more than the record 140,000 persons who came to the centennial fair in 1946.

Trucks carry blue-ribboned livestock started to arrive at the fairgrounds yesterday. All livestock must be in their places by today for judging that will start tomorrow. The judges will inspect the animals for three days before awarding the ribbons that farmers have worked all year to get.

Livestock Parades
The first attraction of each evening's show will be a parade of livestock. Harness racing will begin tomorrow afternoon. Races also will be held Friday, Saturday and Monday afternoons.

Youth day will be on the program for tomorrow when 4-H club members will have their exhibits judged. The midway of greatest interest to many of the fair's younger visitors, is in full operation.

Tonight volunteer fire departments are to put on a show of fire fighting. This will be the first event scheduled at 8 p. m. The firemen are to burn down a house and rescue people from burning buildings.

There is to be a drum and bugle corps contest and hundreds of persons, including the firemen and auxiliaries, will be in uniform.

On Friday the events will include a sheep shearing contest and sheep dog exhibition at 3 p. m. and judging of Jersey cattle at 7:30 p. m.

The Esquires Model Review and a variety show will give its first performance at 8:15 p. m. Friday, and will be repeated Saturday and Sunday night. For Labor day evening, the Cleveland Browns' Musical Majorettes will perform in a special show.

Saturday morning, the milking and short-horn cattle will be judged and the heavyweight teams will compete.

Open Sunday at 1 P. M.
Fairground gates will be open at 1 p. m. Sunday. At 3 p. m. City and High school band majorettes will vie for the title of being selected the best drum majorette in the district.

Labor day, which usually draws the largest crowd, is expected to pull over 60,000, depending on the weather.

Judging of Angus and Hereford cattle will start the day's activities at 9 a. m. in the coliseum, followed by an open contest for horse-jumping in the grand finale of the pig iron derby.

Harness and pony races are scheduled for the afternoon with a livestock parade at 7 p. m. A pony auction at 8 p. m. and the Musical Majorettes show at 8:15 will ring down the curtain of the annual fair.

V-J Day Services In City Planned

Rev. George Beebe, secretary of the Salem Ministerial association, announced today that special church services will be held Sunday in commemoration of the termination of the war and in memory of the servicemen who lost their lives fighting for their country.

Captain John Hansen will conduct special prayer services at the Salvation Army temple Thursday evening in honor of the event.

John Herman, Jr., chairman of the special activities committee of the American Legion Charles H. Carey post No. 56, urges Salem merchants and citizens to display the flag tomorrow—the third anniversary of V-J day.

Drive Cautiously, Ohioans Asked As School Term Nears

The State Department of Education asked Ohio motorists today to guard the lives of more than 1,155,000 school children.

A week from the opening of the state's schools, state education Director Clyde Hisson said:

"All motorists should be unusually careful during the next few weeks. It will cost all drivers perhaps a few minutes or a few seconds of time as compared with a life for some youngster."

Gov. Thomas J. Herbert also asked motorists to drive "so that not a child is hurt in Ohio while going to and from school."

"I urge every motorist to realize his great responsibility and to exercise every possible caution," Herbert said in a proclamation.

More than 1,155,000 boys and girls will be going to and from public, private and parochial elementary and high schools within the next two weeks, Dr. Hisson said. Most Ohio schools will open after Labor day, Sept. 6.

Enrollment Higher
Dr. Hisson predicted more than 130,000 of those school-going children will be enrolled in the first grades of the public schools—about 28,000 more than last September.

"Teachers will not yet have had the chance to impress upon their pupils the need for extreme care in traveling along or crossing streets and highways," explained Dr. Hisson.

"This places an unusual responsibility upon all drivers of motor vehicles to exercise great caution in approaching children, schools and school buses during the next few weeks."

School zones and school buses are plainly marked, commented the state director of education, leaving no excuse for carelessness by motorists. School buses, he said, display flashing red warning signals both front and rear as they begin stopping, and while loading and unloading.

State law requires all drivers approaching a school bus from the front or rear to stop and remain stopped while the bus loads or unloads.

Dr. Hisson appealed to all drivers to remain stopped while buses unload and until school children reached the residence side of the road.

Woman Hurt When Car, Truck Crash

Lucy Pemberton, 33, of R. D. 5, Salem, suffered head lacerations and was taken to Salem City hospital following an accident on Route 14, one mile north of Salem, at 2:30 p. m. Tuesday, the state highway patrol reported.

She was the driver of a car which collided with a tractor-trailer driven by Andrew J. Williams Jr., 30, of Atlanta, Ga.

Patrolmen said truck attempted to pass the car when it turned left. The side of the car was demolished.

No One Hurt In Two Traffic Accidents

Two minor accidents in the city were reported today by the police department, neither resulting in injuries.

Cars driven by Norman E. Sturgell of R. D. 5, Salem, and R. W. Biles of R. D. 5, Salem, and R. W. Biles corner of Wilson and S. Ellsworth at 11:10 p. m. Tuesday when Biles made a left turn onto Ellsworth in front of the Sturgell car.

Both vehicles were damaged slightly.

Dorothy Conroy of 223 W. 14th st. and Wesley Hays of R. D. 1, Leetonia, were drivers of cars which collided at Third and Ellsworth at 7:45 p. m. Monday. Police said Hays failed to observe a stop sign at the corner of Third. Little damage resulted.

BLOCKADE OF CITY IS NOW 74 DAYS OLD

Trains May Roll Again Sunday, Is Report, As Committees Meet

By WALTER RUNDLE

BERLIN, Sept. 1.—Plans to lift the 74-day-old Soviet blockade of Berlin were discussed today by a four-power transport committee and reliable reports said western supply trains may be rolling into Berlin by Sunday.

Financial and transport advisers to the four military governors of Germany met this morning in the Allied control council building to break the Berlin stalemate that has existed since four-power rule ended last March.

Reliable reports said the transport committee discussed plans to lift the Berlin blockade and the financial committee discussed plans to install the Russian mark as the sole legal currency for Berlin, subject to four-power control.

Solution May Be Near

The four deputy military governors, responsible for the administration of Berlin, also conferred this morning. This appeared to indicate some solution on the division of Berlin may also be in the making.

Gen. Lucius D. Clay and the British, French and Russian military commanders are scheduled to meet again at 5 p. m. to follow up their initial meeting yesterday which set the committee consultations in motion.

It was generally believed the Big Four commanders would consider reports from their committees. Belief that the blockade would be lifted soon was borne out by reports that two huge Western Allied supply trains already are loaded and waiting at the border, ready to make the run to Berlin.

Railway officials have been alerted to re-open traffic on the blocked Adelsdorf-Berlin line on Sept. 5, these reports said. Two freight trains of 45 cars each are standing by, loaded with food and supplies. All they need are locomotives.

Helmsdorf, on the British-Russian zonal border, is the point where the Russians cut the Western Allies' rail line to Berlin 74 days ago in retaliation against introduction of a new currency, the Deutschmark, in western Germany.

The governors, at their first meeting yesterday, set up working committees to consider currency and related problems. The committees were scheduled to start work this morning.

Bigger Than Ever

When the final record-breaking statistics on county fair attendance in 1948 are compiled, it will be a long time before anyone will brood about the health of this ancient institution again.

Like other institutions with long histories, the fair had resources of vitality that were foolishly underestimated during the depression years. The city rube and the country slicker and vice versa have been turning out by the millions during the boom years. The 1948 fair season, when it ends in October, will turn out to be the best ever.

The more fairs have changed since they began in the days of Babylon, Tyre and Nineveh, the more they have been the same. Baby shows, horse shows, beauty contests, vaudeville acts, airplane displays are only the modern trappings of a fundamental urge to get together for the exchange of ideas and coin of the realm. The entrepreneur with something to sell and the customer with something to buy would have to invent the fair for their common convenience if the institution weren't already in existence.

Fairs have been more numerous in the United States than in any other country because of the free enterprise system. They have languished when times were bad, flourished when times were good. At the climax of the fair season in 1948, no one is worrying about what is going to happen to them. They will keep getting bigger and better in ratio to the rising rate of American enterprise and productivity.

Behind Closed Doors

There has been a revival of secret diplomacy in Europe, notably at Moscow where only vague hints are forthcoming as to what has been happening at the Kremlin conferences. The London discussions on the Italian colonies also are proceeding in secrecy. These are steps away from the "open covenants openly arrived at" policy Americans demanded after World War I.

Reasons for the current secret diplomacy are obvious. The Moscow discussions are reported proceeding without bitterness or bombast because the Kremlin spokesmen have no forum in which to orate. The western press has been silent because there isn't much to be said. News of the Italian colonies discussions has been suppressed because it might touch off rioting in the affected territories.

The tradition of secret diplomacy is old. Metetrnich, Talleyrand, Gladstone, Bismarck and Cavour weren't in the habit of taking the public into their confidence. The United Nations was supposed to end such behind-the-scenes conniving, but the turn of world events has made it common practice again.

Nevertheless, the United States, with a diplomatic tradition bequeathed by Benjamin Franklin, eyes secret diplomacy askance, remembering that the fine type in the agreements signed at Teheran, Yalta, Cairo and Potsdam is causing plenty of trouble today.

A Problem of Manners

The barrage of vegetables, eggs and overripe insults being laid down on Henry Wallace during his current tour is made to order for the martyrdom. Henry would love to attain in his pursuit of the main chance in politics.

The meanest trick his opponents could play on the new deal's former secretary of agriculture, vice president and secretary of commerce would be to treat him as the exclusive property of those who are exploiting him and his naive followers. Their attendance at his meetings for the purpose of heckling him is bound to draw the sympathy he needs to keep him in the limelight.

Let there be no foolish gabble about his constitutional right to speak. He has it, and no one is going to take it away from him. But his right to speak does not abridge the rights of Americans to give him a disrespectful hearing if that's the way they feel about it. It's a problem of manners, not law.

The smartest solution to the problem of manners is to ignore him—to let him speak exclusively to those who like his ideas. They will throw no eggs, no vegetables and precious little weight in the balance of national affairs next election day.

The Futile Chase

Bureau of Economic Research figures graphically reveal the merry-go-round on which production is futilely chasing prices.

The farmer is producing 27 percent more than he did in 1939 but getting 272 percent more in dollar value. Man-hours in industry are up 73 percent while workers draw 248 percent more in dollar value. For miners, man-hours are up 34 percent compared with 171 percent more in dollars received. Retail sales are turning over 73 percent more goods for 236 percent more in dollar value. The only two indices which aren't seriously out of line are railroads, with ten-miles up 118 percent against a 136 percent increase in dollar return, and rents, which are up only 36 percent.

Wage raises simply accelerate the inflationary rate. Big figures in the profit columns aren't impressive because they merely represent inflated dollars. Everybody is trying to grab as much as possible, and nobody is getting any more than before. Millions, meanwhile, with no way to increase their income of cheaper dollars, are getting less.

One Way To Have Fun

A Pennsylvania butcher wanted some fun. He offered 8000 pounds of hot dogs at 12½ cents a pound. They cost him 50 cents. By our ready reckoning, in two days he gave away $2000. Not does that take account of the $720 gross profit he normally would make on four tons of steaks.

Things must have been very dull in West Newton, Pa., yet the butcher must love his town because, for $1720, he could have spent a couple of days in New York, paid for front row seats at a good show, eaten steaks in a prime restaurant, and possibly even had the lion of a ticket back home left over.

SUDDEN opportunities for exceptional progress, and scope. Thrilling rewards and financial increase are predicted upon this day's propitious auguries.

It is a time for grasping offers with ingenuity, talent, skills and originality, since the returns may be worth all effort, although there may be some "snags," impediment, or want of cooperation. But limitations or frustrations could be dissolved by patience, diligence and determination, helped by novel approach in surmounting obstacles. Reach for high goals with assurance and audacity.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is are assured of a splendid opportunity for demonstrating their ingenuity, skill, and daring in putting over innovations, exceptional creative ventures or in grasping sudden openings for reaching unusual objectives, of far-reaching scope and expansive productivity.

Rewards will be dramatic and substantial, with financial and personal prestige assured, also the possibility of public recognition. This despite stubborn obstacles, delays or other form of limitation or block.

A child born on this day is splendidly equipped for a progressive life, of unusual attainment and rewards although there may be handicaps to overcome by industry and fortitude.

ONE MAN'S OPINION

BY WALTER KIERNAN

THE THOMAS committee has discovered that two of its opposing witnesses were landlord and tenant to each other . . . naturally they would be opposing witnesses.

If the committee is going to call every landlord and tenant who are not on speaking terms the hearings will have to be divided among 14 baseball parks.

When the landlord-witness said he couldn't recall the tenant-witness three landlords wired the committee "we also have tenants we would like to forget."

It used to be that persons who had wronged were allowed to repent in full . . . but as soon as they had completed their sentences.

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

Useful Chemical Test Aids Diagnosis

BY HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

BOTH patient and doctor are fortunate today in having at their disposal a great variety of laboratory tests. When properly used, such tests not only make a diagnosis more sure but also more rapid, and thus enable the doctor to get treatment under way almost at once.

Some of these tests are extremely useful when it comes to making a diagnosis of stomach and bowel disturbances, and none of these tests is more necessary than that designed to detect the presence of blood in the bowel movements. It should never be neglected because it helps particularly in discovering serious disorders which demand immediate attention.

Structure in Abdomen
There is a structure in the abdomen known as Meckel's diverticulum which functions only before birth as what is known as the vitelline duct. However, it remains connected with the bowel and sometimes becomes diseased. Such a disturbance causes no symptoms other than blood in the stool, and neither physical examination nor X-ray will reveal its presence.

Another cause of blood in the stool is an ulcer in the first part of the small intestines. This is also difficult to diagnose even with X-ray examination, but a small amount of blood in the stool should make the doctor suspect its presence.

In cancer of the large or small bowel, blood is usually present in the stools. In fact it was found in 102 out of 110 cases studied.

Cancer of the stomach may also cause blood to appear in the stools in most instances.

The test for blood in the bowel movements is a chemical test which is easily carried out in but a few minutes' time. Tablets have been made up carrying the reagents necessary for making the test. These tablets can be carried around in the doctor's bag and the test made in the patient's home, the doctor's office or in the laboratory.

When blood is found in the stools, a rectal examination should be made. Such an examination may be made in other ways. It has been pointed out that in nearly half of the cases of cancer of the large bowel and rectum, a diagnosis can be made by means of such a rectal examination. Furthermore, a rectal examination makes it possible to determine the size, shape and state of tenderness of the prostate gland in the male.

Persons who have disorders affecting the stomach and bowel should have a thorough study carried out by the physician and, of course, as a part of this examination a test should be made for the presence of blood in the bowel movements.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
H. C.: What causes dryness of the throat and is there a cure for it?

Answer: There are many causes for so-called dryness of the throat. This condition may indicate infection of the nose, throat or tonsils; or it may be due to some lack of secretion from the salivary glands.

A thorough study should be made

DESPITE LIMITED MENU, BRISKENS ENJOYED VACATION TRIP TO ENGLAND

By ELINOR CURRIER

You will have mutton today, and tomorrow and perhaps the next day, maybe some beef—but if you want a savory pot of baked beans and pork, not to speak of a nice roast of pork, England isn't the place to find it.

After a three months stay in the on a few days trip last week to Detroit, Mich., and West Virginia.

Mrs. Emma Alter of Alliance spent Friday with her niece, Mrs. W. A. Talbot and family.

Rev. C. R. McPherson preached at the Wesleyan Methodist church in Carrollton, Sunday.

Miss Mabel Ward of Massillon called on Mrs. W. K. Talbot, Friday.

Mrs. Erba Maddox of Cleveland called on Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Talbot, Thursday.

Mrs. James Rhodes of Whitewater, Kan., returned to her home after visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hall.

Miss Emily Moore of Cleveland is spending a ten-day vacation with Mrs. Margaret Chambers.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Young of Berlin Center spent Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Talbot and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Culmer and family of Cleveland, Mrs. M. Russell of Miami, Fla., Mrs. Martha Britten of Lakewood, Fla., and Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Scattergood of Alliance were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Stanley.

Miss Billie Marie Owens of Hamilton was a weekend guest of Rev. and Mrs. Robert Mosher.

Mrs. Robert Cameron and daughter Carole Lee, returned home from the Salem City hospital, Sunday.

Mrs. Earle Shevel and daughter of Warren spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Phillips and daughters Aileen and Hilda.

Mrs. Hannah Rakestraw left Monday for her home in Lupton, Mich., after a three weeks' visit with Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Stanley and other relatives. She also attended the sessions of Ohio Yearly meeting of Friends.

British Isles, Mr. and Mrs. David Briskens of Maple st., should know.

Dave, an Army veteran and Salem mail carrier, used his accumulated vacation plus some extra time to revisit the English village of Downton, Wiltshire, where he was stationed for six months during the war. It was there that he met May Gilbert, who became his wife.

First Visit Home

This is the first visit Mrs. Briskens has made to her native land since she came to join her husband some two and one-half years ago. They took back with them an addition to the family, 20-month-old Patricia Ann.

Here are some of the things they had to say about their trip:

They left on the Mayflower clipper from LaGuardia field May 17, and in 13 and one-half hours arrived at London airport, went through the customs and were met by her father, Fred Gilbert, who drove them some 60 miles to the family home in Downton.

Downton has some 1300 citizens, grade and secondary schools, churches and a pub. (After strict examination you can go to High school in a town seven miles away.)

The army camp as it was during the war is defunct, but a civilian population has taken over. The property is government-owned and no trespassing is allowed, but "squatters" just moved in. The barracks are now occupied by some 20 families. Due to a complicated state of affairs, they don't even pay rent!

Before her marriage, Mrs. Briskens kept house for her father, who is the village gamekeeper, and two brothers, Ronald and Percy. Her father hopes to come to America to visit in two years.

In these days of meat shortages and in view of the fact that mutton is practically the main meat dish on the English menu, the Briskens were glad that they had a gamekeeper in the family. They could vary their diet with rabbit and other game such as duck and pheasant in season.

Shoe rationing here is a thing of the past, but the Britishers just recently were freed of that hardship. Incidental items are not rationed, but the important necessities to everyday living are under rigid control. Candy is limited to one pound per person a month, and gum is hard to find.

The villagers have their gardens and chickens, and there they have the advantage of the city dwellers. They either can or dry food for the winter, but freezers as Americans know them are practically unheard of, for the price is prohibitive. For what we would pay for a large freezer in the United States, they could buy only the very smallest refrigerator.

The most surprising news of England is the fact that television is much more commonly in use than here. Television sets are popularly found in most homes.

After horse racing, the national pastime of most Britishers, they find their entertainment in cricket and football.

The game of darts is much enjoyed, with great rivalry among the various teams that a town might boast. If you want an interesting game of darts, talk to Dave for he made a championship team during his three months stay.

Took in Olympics

The highlight of the Salemites trip, not to mention the thrill of the flying over and back, was the first two days of the Olympics. They witnessed the athletics and the basketball games.

The itinerary of the sightseeing by bus included Stratford-on-Avon (Shakespeare), the Cheddar caves where the original cheddar cheese is made; Southampton, Bournemouth

(the Englishman's Atlantic City), Peterborough, where they visited friends; Beacon field; Bristol where the Australian cricket team was on tour.

And in London they stood for two hours waiting to see Jack Benny in person.

As the royal family was in residence at Buckingham palace the Briskens took the tour of famous Windsor castle, and saw the Queen's doll house, which is in the castle. All the regal furnishings are in miniature.

Bouquets of pink and white gladioli decorated the altar.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore white slipper satin in a fitted bodice with a sweetheart neckline and tiny buttons down the back. The full net skirt was showered with satin bows. Her fingertip veil of net was attached to a taria of orange blossoms and she carried white roses.

Tito Promotes Two Party Lieutenants

LONDON, Sept. 1—Premier Marshal Tito lightened his grip on Yugoslavia today, promoting to greater power his trusted governmental and party lieutenants, Eduard Kardelj and Alexander Rankovic.

Stanoje Simic, the non-Communist foreign minister, was replaced. Vice Premier Kardelj was promoted from chairman of the control commission to foreign minister.

Rankovic, who heads Yugoslavia's police, now becomes a Vice Premier. He remains interior minister.

Kardelj and Rankovic were singled out with Tito by the Russian-dominated Cominform as arch foes of the Moscow line in Yugoslavia.

The shifts were announced in a decree of the ruling presidium of the Yugoslav National Assembly, which put into effect a "reconstruction of the Yugoslav Government."

The decree was broadcast from Belgrade by Tanjug, the official Yugoslav news agency.

Use Yellow Bulbs To Discourage Night Pests

If you're bothered by night insects, try using the new yellow enameled bulbs for outdoor lighting.

These new bulbs are ideal for porches, over picnic tables, doorways and gardens, where you want to discourage night-flying insects.

There's no magic in the yellow bulb, but according to lighting specialists insects are less attracted to a yellow lamp than to a white bulb of equal wattage. Available in both 60 and 100-watt sizes, the bulbs have a glass coating which is "fixed" on the bulb so it won't wear or wash off.

Dr. Matthew Luckiesh, director of lighting research laboratory at General Electric's Nela Park in Cleveland, suggests that you might want to put up two lamps, a white one at a distance and a yellow one nearby whenever you need light outdoors at night.

SABRINA closed the blotter and moved on slowly, away from the desk and into the bedroom end, where she had never ventured before.

On top of the chest of drawers was a silver frame enclosing the picture of a fair girl in her presentation gown and feathers. She was very nearly a great beauty, but her mouth was thin and at the same time pouting. Spoilt, thought Sabrina, regarding her with a mixture of surprise and hostility. "With Love, ALICE," was written across one corner of the picture. Alice too was in the absurd conspiracy to withhold his name. Who was Alice? Beside the picture was a round leather box, with its catch hanging loose. Between two fingers Sabrina lifted the lid. It was full of winged collars for evening wear. Did he dress for dinner every night in the country? In the center space lay something small and black and cold, like a snake. Sabrina looked again, incredulously—yes, it was nestled in the stiff, encircling collars lay a peculiarly deadly looking revolver.

Sabrina lifted down the collar box and held it to the light, staring at the gun. It was the first one she had ever seen, close like this, and her heart was beating thickly.

The box was heavy in her hands with the gun's weight. She picked the thing up between her thumb and forefinger, holding it by the extreme end of its handle. How heavy it was, and how cold to the touch. But so small that in a man's hand, held closely in his palm, it would be scarcely noticeable. Very gently she laid it back in its nest among the collars, and replaced the box beside Alice. They were odd companions.

The table beside the bed held books and a lamp, and an ashtray. Sabrina was strangely reassured at sight of them. He was an entire right-minded person anyway. He read in bed. She rounded the foot of the bed and approached the door in the wall on the other side, pulled it open a few inches and peeped in. A small bathroom, modern and complete, lighted by a narrow window, with a gay tiled shower curtain and a gay linoleum underfoot. He had let himself go, there. She withdrew from the bathroom, a little startled, and found the picture on her immediate right.

A group of boys in football suits, seated on a lawn. Boys about 12 or 14 years old. She bent closer. He must be there among them if only she knew which one he was. For a long time she stared at the picture. At last she turned away with a sigh of frustration, and was facing the wardrobe.

Her hand was on the latch of the great wardrobe. A coat or two—possibly riding-clothes—a mackintosh—why should she want to see them? Men's clothes were all alike.

One panel swung out toward her, then the other.

EXACTLY the sort of thing Father wore. Only—she lifted a coat sleeve and rubbed her fingers across it like a caress—for all its rough weave it was surprisingly soft. And from it came the faint, unmistakable scent of pipe smoke. She laid her cheek against it, and felt comforted. He would come back, his things were still here.

With a grateful smile she closed the wardrobe.

As she did so, a long shiver ran through her, and uneasiness like a cold draught pervaded the room. For a moment, leaning against the edge of the wardrobe, she looked about her, puzzled. She had put back ev-everything, exactly as she found it. She had touched nothing a maid with a duster might not have fingered—except perhaps his clothes. She had committed no sacrilege, surely. But something was wrong. She felt sick and weak, the way she had felt after influenza. And the room was—different.

"What's happened?" she whispered instinctively, as though the room could hear the answer. "What have I done?"

Rain was still falling outside, the gray windows were darkening, and the air was chill and dim. For the first time the room's silence was loud.

Something had gone out of the room, something friendly and protective, and in its place was emptiness, strangeness and doubt.

She began to back toward the door, with wide, watchful eyes, as though the room might try to stop her.

WHEN Aunt Effie came home from the sewing circle, she found Sabrina lying on her bed, and sent for the doctor. Sabrina lay very quietly, with her eyes wide open. Her lips were cold and bloodless. She would say nothing except that she didn't feel very well.

The doctor said it was a slight chill on the liver, and left some little white pills.

INSECT DAMAGE TO CROPS HIGH

Despite New Bug Killers, High Loss To Farmers Is Inflicted

By FRANK CAREY

Associated Press Science Reporter

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1—Insect damage to American crops has reached an all-time peak of four billions of dollars a year—at a time when better-than-ever bug killers are available.

This report to the American Chemical society by Dr. H. L. Haller and Ruth L. Busbey of the Agriculture department, said, in effect, that while farmers have the necessary ammunition to fight the pests, they're not using the spray gun often enough.

Haller and Miss Busbey addressed the opening of the 114th national meeting of the society, the world's largest professional association of scientists.

In their prepared paper, they said great progress has been made in recent years in the development of synthetic (man-made) compounds which are highly effective against both agricultural and disease-bearing insects.

Among them are DDT, benzene hexachloride, Shordan and chlorinated camphene.

The report said some other synthetic compounds had allowed more economic use of the important natural insecticides—the pyrethrins—which are derived from a plant of the Chrysanthemum family.

The pyrethrins long have been had news for bugs, but they've had to be imported and they've been expensive.

Among compounds found useful for extending the pyrethrum supply are sesamin, piperonyl cyclonene, piperonyl butoxide and propyl isome.

How cattle fed on diets deficient in copper develop a disease resembling human arthritis was described by Dr. George K. Davis of the University of Florida Agricultural Experiment station.

He said striking changes in the bone metabolism of cattle occur in the severely copper-deficient areas of Florida. Some of the animals, Davis said, develop an abnormal and painful gait.

It is said that black horses are affected more by the heat than those of other colors.

Columbiana county city, village and local schools have 18,791 pupils between the ages of 5 and 8 registered, according to the 1948 enumeration report received by County Auditor I. J. Vorndran.

City schools had a total of 10,424 pupils in that age group, an increase of almost 1,000 over 1947. The emptied village totals in Columbiana, Lisbon and Leetonia schools was 2,454 while the rural tally was 5,913.

The complete enumeration was:

City—Alliance, 31; East Liverpool, 5,690; East Palestine, 1040; Salem, 2,693; Wellsville, 1,570.

Exempted village—Columbiana, 687; Leetonia, 908, and Lisbon 859.

Kirby Laughlin Bats .444 To Lead Class A League

The best batter in the city's Class A softball league this season was Kirby Laughlin, who batted .444 to retain his batting crown won last season as a member of the Diner team.

Laughlin, appearing in 21 games, batted .444 and scored 24 runs. His winning average in 1947 was .415. He is one of the spark-plugs of the Amvet team, which set a new consecutive games won record in the local loop. He will receive his batting trophy during the current season's playoffs.

In second place in the league, and also in line for a trophy, is Laughlin's teammate, Jimmy Appedison, who paced the league during the early weeks of the campaign. His final mark was .437, only seven percentage points off the pace.

Appedison, playing in 25 games, collected 31 base hits, while scoring 20 runs.

Charles "Mutt" Schaeffer, Diner hurler, took third place in the batting derby with a lacy .407 mark, followed by Dick Ehrhart of the Democrats, who finished with .402. Ehrhart paced the league in total hits, knocking 33.

Dick Boughton, stocky Mullins outfielder, was fifth with a .392 average.

The following is a complete list of the leading hitters in the Class A league, including only those who batted .350 or more and who competed in two-thirds of their team's games.

Amvets Win Playoff Tilt On Zines' No-Hitter

Lou Gets Three To Lead Ted Williams

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 1—Cleveland's Indians plan to reexamine their pennant possibilities tonight in their last eastern game this season by starting their erstwhile big hope, Bob Feller.

The last time Bob pitched a game was against the always-dangerous New York Yankees and his performance looked like a flash of the old form. Should he show that was no accident, the Tribe will feel a whole lot better about the home stretch.

The Athletics proved a fairly soft touch last night—except for a scary ninth inning of more walkouts—and Cleveland won, 6 to 1, the credit going to Gene Bearden.

But Boston and New York also won, so the Indians today were still in third, 1½ games behind the Red Sox. A victory tonight would give the Indians a 6-5 edge for the eastern trip.

The game, incidentally, was billed like this in newspaper advertisements: "See Lou Boudreau, Satchel Paige & Co. in the exciting pennant fight."

It was Bearden's 13th victory and he gave the now-founding Athletics only five scattered singles, then in the ninth inning, he walked the first two men, Bob Lemon, who relieved him, came through with another base on balls, then retired the A's on a strikeout, a fly to short center and a pop foul.

Cleveland's 13 hits—eight of them off the loser, Dick Fowler—featured a perfect night by Lou Boudreau. He got a triple, a double, a single and two bases on balls—sore thumb and all. His perfect night at the plate enabled him to wrest the league's

One Walk Mars Game; China Roms Over V. F. W. 6-2

The strong right arm of Pitcher John Zines that carried the Amvets to 26 consecutive league victories seems to be the determining factor in the Class A playoffs, now underway.

Tuesday night, Zines came within one batter of pitching a perfect game. He shut out the Diner, 1947 champs, without a hit and faced only 22 batters during the seven innings. Captain John Hart of the Diner finally reached first base on a walk in the seventh inning with two outs, after he had worked the count to 3 and 1.

Zines received valuable fielding assistance from diminutive Jimmy Appedison at second base. The latter played his position in short right field and turned in several sparkling plays to avert what appeared to be sure base hits.

In the other Class A playoff tilt, the Salem China scored three runs in two different innings to defeat the V. F. W. 6-2. The winners were never in serious trouble, although the Vets climbed to within one run of them in the third frame.

Dale Ritchie was in complete command of the game, walking only one, fanning four and giving up seven hits. The China got nine bingles from John McQuiston of the Vets. Evie Cibula and Ed Duco each collected two hits for the China, as did Red Hall of the V. F. W.

The Diner-Amvet game was strictly a pitcher's duel. Although Zines' no-hitter took all the notice, Charles "Mutt" Schaeffer pitched well batting leadership from Ted Williams by one point, 371 to 370. Gene Bearden was the winner and Dick Fowler the loser.

Browns Start With Tough Foe Friday

CLEVELAND, Sept. 1—The Cleveland Browns start gunning for their third straight All-America conference championship at Municipal stadium Friday night and opposing them in their opener will be the team that has caused them the most trouble in the past two seasons—the Los Angeles Rams.

In dominating the young conference, the Browns have lost only three times and two of those defeats were administered by the Rams, according to the Cleveland scouts, are "bigger, rougher and faster than ever."

Now coached by Jimmy Phelan, formerly of St. Mary's college, the Los Angeles eleven has been changed to a single-wing outfit built around "Galloping" Glenn Dobbs, "Jarring" John Kimbrough and "Squirmy" Herman Wedemeyer. Herman is the Hawaiian hurler from St. Mary's who starred for Phelan during the war years. That trio, supported by some fine running halfbacks and functioning behind one of the biggest lines in pro football, is expected to give the battered Browns a stubborn argument for western division laurels this season.

Those who witnessed the Baltimore Colts 21-17 upset victory over Cleveland in an exhibition game at Toledo won't be too surprised if the Rams duplicate the Baltimore triumph.

Several Cleveland stars were hauled up by the Colts, the most seriously injured of which is Dante Lavelli, pass-snatching right end who suffered a broken bone in his right leg which will keep him out of action at least six weeks.

Otto Graham, the Browns' star passer and the league's most valuable player last year, suffered a bruised right hand; Marion Motley, all-league fullback, sustained minor back injuries suffered in the team's first exhibition game with Buffalo two weeks ago.

Coch Paul Brown plans to shift Horace Gillom from defensive left end to offensive right end to replace Lavelli and he also has John Yonakor available for offensive work. Gillom starred as a pass receiver at Massillon high school and Nevada university while Yonakor, a fine defensive end with the Browns, won All-America recognition at Notre Dame as a pass catcher.

The Rams, led by Dobbs and Kimbrough, won their league opener from the Rockets at Chicago, 7-0 last Friday night.

Charles Beard, U. S. Historian, Succumbs

NEW HAVEN, Sept. 1—Charles A. Beard, 73, the noted historian, died today in Grace-New Haven community hospital.

The historian, author of some 30 books on American history, had been a patient at the hospital since Aug. 2. His physicians, Dr. Marion Howard and Dr. Ashley W. Oughterson, said his death was caused by aplastic anemia.

Beard's most recent book, published only last April, stirred up considerable controversy.

It accused the late President Roosevelt of secretly between the United States and Japan and Germany, and questioned whether the results of the war justified the means Beard said were employed.

The book outraged followers of President Roosevelt, but the month after it was published Dr. Beard was awarded the gold medal of the national institute of arts and letters.

While Beard in this book employed his powers of analysis to inter-pret hindsight, he and his wife, Mary, who collaborated on five of his works, exhibited foresight when they published "The Rise of American Civilization" in 1927.

This book, written six years before the phrase "new deal" became a by-word, predicted that the nation was due to see a sociological movement much like the one which was carried out under the Roosevelt administrations.

Other books by Beard included "An economic interpretation of the constitution," "American Foreign Policy in the Making," "America in Mid-Passage," "The Development of Modern Europe," "The Economic Basis of Politics," and "A Basic History of the United States."

Beard was born Nov. 27, 1874 near Knightstown, Ind.

He was graduated in 1898 from DePaul university, and two years later married the former Mary Ritter of Indianapolis.

Movie Actor Held In Narcotics Raid

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 1—Movie Hero Robert Mitchum was arrested with three other persons in a narcotics raid on a Hollywood home early today.

Mitchum, Real Estate Agent Robin Ford, Actress Lila Leeds, 20, and Dancer Vickie Evans, 25, all were booked on suspicion of violating state and federal narcotic laws.

The screen leading man and Ford, also 31, were cast in the unglamorous roles of marijuana smokers by arresting officers.

Det. Sgts. A. M. Barr and J. B. McKinnon of the Los Angeles narcotics detail said that both men were smoking reefer (marijuana-containing cigarettes) when the officers broke into the home.

Mitchum surrendered a package containing 13 more of the cigarettes, Sgt. Barr said, and Miss Leeds, a blonde film hopeful, gave up several.

The home was rented by the young women, the officer said. At another apartment which Miss Leeds maintains, Sgt. Barr said he found another reefer.

The raid, Barr said, culminated an investigation of more than six months. It was conducted with the aid of Federal Narcotics Inspector William Craig.
